CEMA Prepares for Annual Trip to the State Capitol

Sacramento, California – The California Entertainment Machine Association (CEMA) is gearing up for its annual trip to the state capitol June 24-25th, to advocate for the interests of its members with state lawmakers. As a leading trade association representing businesses in the entertainment machine and amusement vending industry, CEMA plays a vital role in shaping legislation and policies that impact its members.

CEMA's trip to Sacramento will include meetings with key legislators and policymakers to discuss important issues affecting the industry. "We are excited to once again have the opportunity to engage with state lawmakers and advocate for policies that support our industry," said Jim Wyatt, President of CEMA.

CEMA continues to build and strengthen relationships with lawmakers. The annual trip to the state Capitol is just one of the ways in which CEMA works to advance the interests of its members. The association organizes an annual California trade show (CEMA Spotlight Show January 31, 2025 in Anaheim, CA) as well as providing networking opportunities, industry information, and resources to help businesses in a competitive marketplace.
